“Now that my beauty is gone, but in good hands I believe, I hope to find a worthy successor, only time will tell...” May I start with these kind words I wrote over nine months ago just to introduce to you my brand new baby, the Dodge Charger! I won't be nice this time because this ride is ruff, and I mean it!!

Don't get me wrong, I still love the customized Benzito but this bad boy right there is pure awesomeness! This car is all about speed and sound of the engine, no more comfortable seats nor silent interior with beautiful dashboard. This time I must admit that muscle beats the shit out the Germans. It's big (yes, bigger than the e-class), fast and fucking loud, but it's the engine sound that makes them motherfuckers brake their necks when my few hundred horses ride by, not to mention them bad ass 20" on high performance Toyo tires. Just wait till I have the time to tweak this bitch, so stay tuned, guys ;)

The question is, will I trade it for another Benz ever? Only time will tell...
